New Concessions Open at Salt Lake City International Airport

New concepts, remodeled spaces and enlarged stores have made a debut at Salt Lake City International Airport in recent weeks.

Utah's Own has opened at the top of Concourse C featuring products made in or unique to Utah.

A Duty Free shop has joined the retail line-up on Concourse D. This store offers products "duty free" for passengers with international tickets and "duty paid" for those without an international airline ticket.

EA Sports is now doing business at the top of Concourse C. They sell a wide variety of sporting equipment, clothing and video games.

Newly branded newsstands have opened throughout the terminals. Sunset News is now on Concourse A, Wall Street Journal News is on the lower B Concourse and The Economist is on Concourse C. The Deseret News, in Terminal Two near the top of Concourse C, will open soon along with Simply Books on Concourse C.

Four stores have opened on the mezzanine in Terminal One. InMotion Entertainment, a video purchase and rental store, and Glamour Walkway featuring women's accessories are new concepts. The Brookstone store was remodeled and enlarged. They now offer a fuller line of products in the enhanced space. Rocky Mountain Chocolate Factory has opened a larger, renovated space in this location and they also opened a new store on Concourse D.

Squatter's Pub Brewery underwent a renovation on Concourse C and reopened with a reconfigured space, new fixtures and updated equipment.

A Gordon Biersch Brewery will be built on the third level of Terminal One. The Airport is in the process of installing new escalators to service the well-known restaurant.

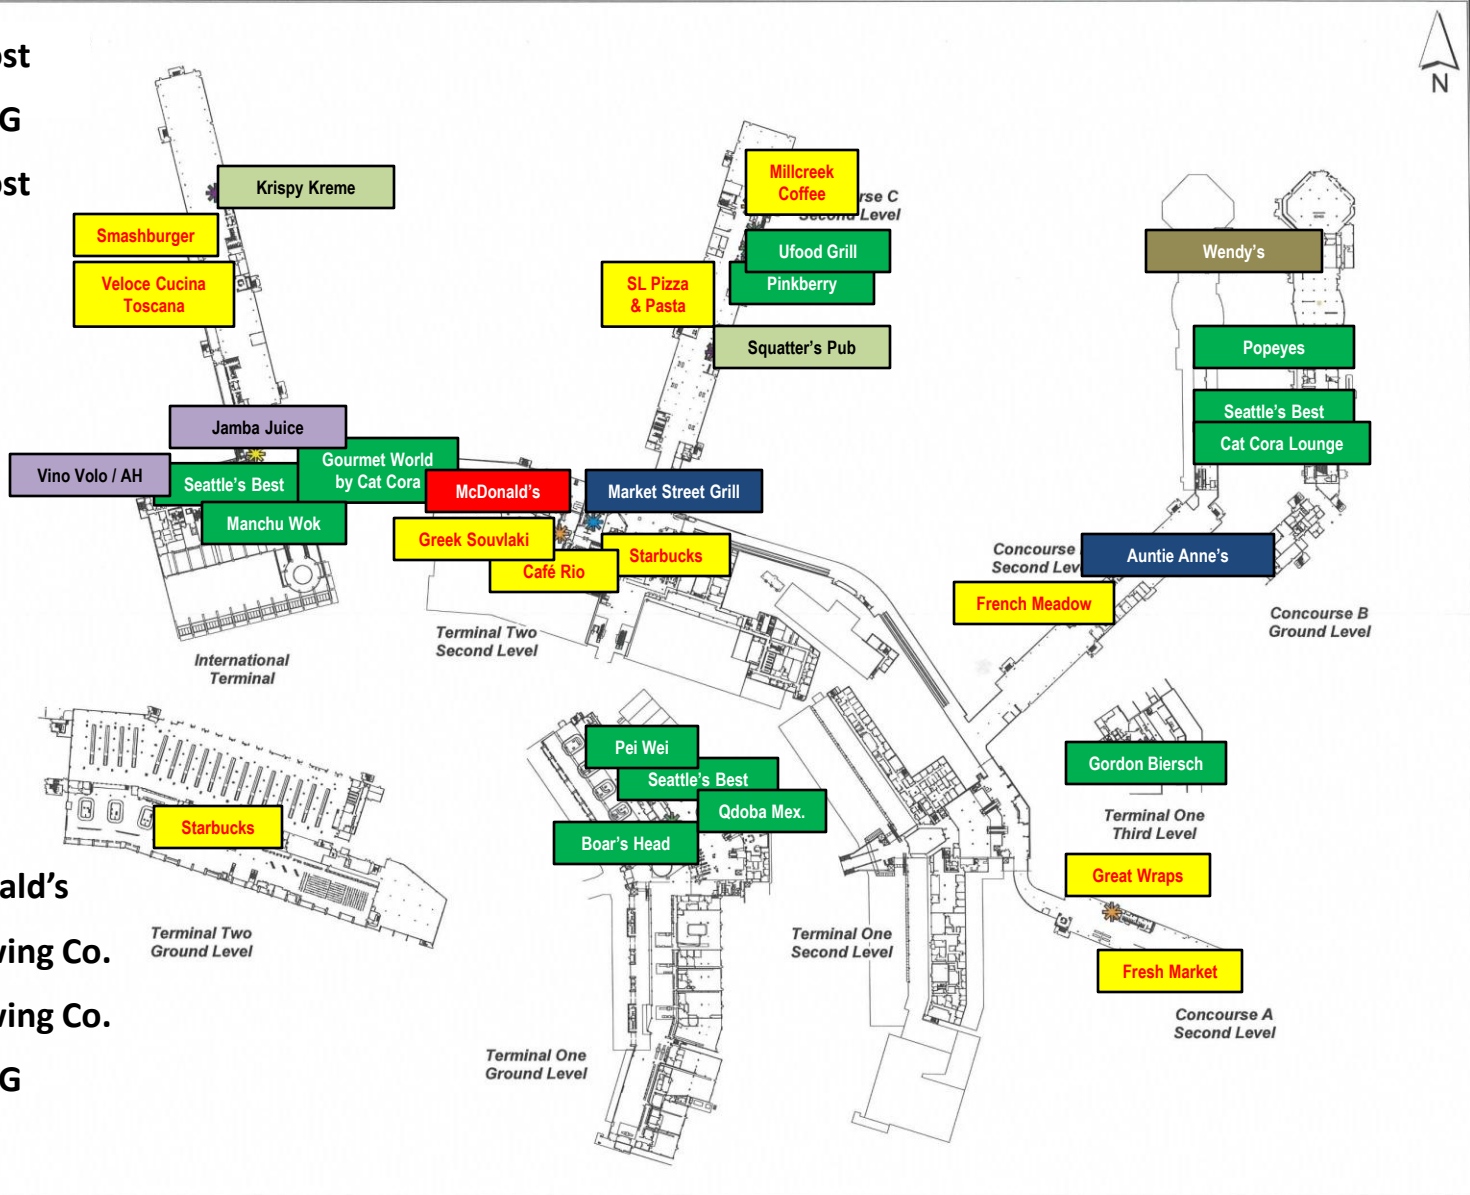

More stores and restaurants will be opening over the next year as the Airport's concession renovation program gains momentum. A list and maps of the new stores and restaurants are attached.
