Thank you for your interest in the Salt Lake City International Airport Terminal Redevelopment Program. We appreciated your comments and feedback during our public outreach campaign last year, and look forward to updating you on our progress throughout this exciting project.

There have been some major developments for the Terminal Redevelopment Program since we broke ground in July.

Economy Parking Expansion

A southern expansion to the economy parking lot opened at Salt Lake City

The new parking area offers 2,900 parking stalls, three bus shelters, energy-efficient LED lighting and convenient terminal access. The lot is organized by a new color-coded numbering system which integrates into the existing economy parking lot.

A new entrance to the economy lot, south of the existing entrance, is expected to open on December 23.

Rental Car Facility Construction Underway

The opening of the south parking area created space for the construction of a new rental car facility, north of the existing economy parking lot. Construction crews are installing stone columns and conducting the utility preparation work needed for the new Quick Turn Around (QTA) building, where rental cars will be cleaned and serviced.

Economy Lot Pedestrian Walkway Closure

The changes underway at SLC International Airport are exciting and challenging, yet nothing is more important to us than the safety of our passengers during this project. Due to construction of the rental car facilities, the pedestrian path from the economy lot to the terminals has permanently closed. For your safety, all passengers must now utilize the shuttle buses when parking in the economy lot.
